Dear friend of Christopher Bonn Jonnes,

We are proud to announce the upcoming release of Christopher Jonnes' new book Big Ice.

Reclusive polar ice researcher Seth Peterson has located a doomsday fault, which could allow the West Antarctic Ice Sheet—a hunk of ice a mile-and-a-half-thick and as big as Mexico—to slide off the continent and flood coastal cities, ending the world as we know it. Millions of people worldwide would perish in the resulting chaos and famine. This knowledge—and his heroics at a fateful traffic accident—puts Seth reluctantly under the scrutiny of media, law enforcement, and a band of environmental extremists desperate to make an obscure, overdue prophecy come true. Their cataclysmic objective seems terrifyingly believable to Seth—as does their plan to exterminate him, the only living witness to their scheme. In fear for his life, Seth escapes to the icy shores of a Minnesota lake, where he must confront these extremists in order to prevent a potential disaster.
